Munificent Bequests.

THE following article is taken from the Columbia correspondence of the Southern Patriot :-

Believing that everything pertaining to the education of our youth will be interesting to yourself and your readers, I take pleasure in informing you that the executor of the late John Blair, of York, has recently put into the Treasury Office in Columbia thirty shares in the stock of the S. W. R. Rand Bank, and four hundred and fifty dollars and eleven cents, in cash, (making together $3204 11,) to be added to the free school fund of York, according to the last will and testament of the said John Blair, and so accepted by the General Assembly of the State at its last session.

As the philanthropist may desire to know something more of this good and generous man, I will endeavor to gratify his reasona-

John Blair was an Irishman, and emigrated to this country several years ago. was not the possessor of wealth at the time of his emigration, but he was the possessor of "a little learning," of which he made a good use. He taught school for some time. after which he embarked the product of his honorable and honest labors in mercantile pursuits, in which he was so successful as to leave behind him a handsome fortune, which he bequeathed to objects worthy the patriot and the christian.

In addition to several legacies to his relatives and friends, (he had no children.) on both sides of the house, he appropriated a considerable sum for the permanent education of not less than twelve young men in his native town, any of whom evincing superior talents are to be taken to higher schools, and prepared for the christian min-istry. Nor did he forget the land of his adoption. Together with the amount bequesthed to the free school fund, noticed above, he made provision for the erection of a Presbyterian church in Yorkville, as well as for the gratuitous distribution of a large number of New Testaments to the poor and need v.

Such is the brief account of John Blair and the disposition he has made of his property, which I have received at the lips of one of his particular friends.

The generous bequest of John Blair brings to my mind others of a similar character, made in the expansive spirit of christian philanthropy, by some of those who have gone to their rest, as well as those who still remain amongst us as bright and shining lights in this our dark and portentous night of intolerance and bigotry.

Under the last will and testament of Rev. Richard Ludlam, bearing date 11th Octo-ber, 1728, the testator "devises and bequeaths all his estate, both real and personal, whether in South, Carolina or elsewhere, to the honorable the society for propagating the gospel in foreign parts, and to their successors forever, upon trust and confidence that, at their discretion and under their directions, a school for the instruc-tion of poor children shall be erected in the Farish of St James Goose Creek, out of HENRY Ward Beecher says: "I now the monies which shall arise out of the sale of his real and personal estate."

Dr. John De LaHowe, of Abbeville, made a most liberal provision for the education of the poor, in his last will: to carry out which, the Legislature of 1829 appointed a board of trustees, composed of some of the most prominent citizens of this dis-

Thomas Wadsworth, late of Charleston, animated by a similar spirit, directed in his last will that sundry tracts of land should be conveyed by his executors to certain trustees for the purpose of establishing a free school in the lower Saluda Battalion, Laurens, District, and out of the monies from the sale of these lands, a considerable sum is still believed to be in the hands of the trustees and annually applied, according to the will of the deceased. Indeed, like the sacred fire in the temple, whether as a colony or as an independent State, the flame of christian benevolence and christian tolerance has ever animated the great heart of South Carolina; that it still warms and animates her people we have abundant testimony wherever we turn our eyes. Witness the annual appropriation of $74,400 for free schools, and $24,600 for the South Carolina College, to be expended without preference of sect or party. Witness that monument of christian liberality, the Orphan House in Charleston, where, from an hundred to an bundred and fifty orphans are constantly clothed, boarded and educated without any elothed, boarded and educated without any regard to the country or the creed of their deceased parents. Witness the numerous achosts along in our celleges and literary institutions, said foreign the wealthy and filled by the parent deceased, and needy and witness too, the second substitution surraner by our numerous been point and account to the State, diffusing topically and breath of the State, diffusing topically and breath of the states of the states.

PENDENT PRESS and array our people against each other, by making invidious distinctions amongst them on natural and religious grounds, and thus socuring a more easy triumph to our enemies. Carolinians take care! The "wooden horse" has been stealthily introduced into the camp! Be on your guard! Again, I say, Carolinians take care!! P.P.

Agricultural College.

Mr. S. R. Black of Richland has made an appeal to the planters of our State upon the subject of establishing an Agricultural College. The idea is not a new one, but if we mistake not, Mr. Black is the first to offer and end the 10th of June. any definite plan for its foundation. He proposes that not less than one hundred thousand dollars be raised by subscription in shares of one hundred dollars for the purpose of erecting the necessary buildings, endowing the college, &c. As an outline for its establishment and government he offers the following.

1st. To purchase at some place not more than thirty miles from the centre of the State, in a suitable locality, such an amount of lessor is to devote his time are to be designated by the said Trustees; the Trustee having in view a thorough, scientific, and practical Agricultural education.

4th. The terms of admission, qualification, tuition, salaries, &c., &c., to be regulated by the Trustees.

5th. On the lands upon which the College buildings are erected will be a model or experimental farm under the care and control of a practical and experienced farmer and planter, conducted in such a way as to afford the pupils the best means witnessing the various experiments in Agriculture, and at the same time uniting to the theory and science of Agriculture the details of practical experiment.

6th. Each stock-holder who shall subscribe twenty shares, shall be authorized to send one scholar free from any charge for tuition and for every additional twenty shares, one scholar on like condition.

A Hungry Carpet Bag. The Buffalo Express relates an amusing incident which occurred at Erie recently.—
A gentleman left Cleveland for New York at an early hour in the morning without his breakfast, and being very hungry, upon the arrival of the train at Erie, entered the dining-room, and placing his carpet-bag upon a chair, sat down beside it and commenced a voracious attack upon the viands placed before him. By-and-by the proprietor of the establishment came around to collect fares, and upon reaching our friend, ejaculated, "Dollar, sir!" "A dollar!" responded the eating man, "a dollar! thought you only charged fifty cents a meal for one "That's true," said Meanness, "but I count your carpet-bag one, since it occu-pies a seat." (The table was far from being crowded.) Our friend expostulated, but the landlord insisted, and the dollar was reluctantly brought forth. The landlord passed Our friend deliberately arose, and opening his carpet-bag full in its wide mouth, discoursed unto it, saying, "Carpet-bag, it seems you're an individual—a human individual, since you eat-at least I've paid for you, and now you must eat,"—upon which he seized everything eatable within his reach, nuts, raisins, apples, cakes, pies, and amid the roars of the by-standers, the delight of his brother passengers, and the discomfiture of the landlord, poured them into it, and went and took his act is also want and took his act is also wa and went and took his seat in the cars. He Chambrays, Linen Lustres. said he had provisions enough to last him to New York, after a bountiful supply had Family Mourning Attire, a complete assortmen been served out in the cars. There was at least eight dollars' worth in the bag, upon which the landlord realized nothing in the way of profit. So much for meanness.

HENRY Ward Beecher says: "I never knew an early rising man, careful of his earnings, and strictly honest, who complained of bad luck. A good character, good habits, and good industry are impregnable to the assault of all ill luck that fools ever dreamed of." -16.6
